

Missionaries to Perú

"We are going on an airplane tomorrow" Alicia explained to our two year old right before bed. Before she even finished, he let out the happiest little "ok!" and ran for his shoes and jacket.

We are shocked that our five month old has been on 12 airplanes, and our 2 year old is now building up frequent flyer miles! When we look back over 2011 so far, we can see how that has been possible.

The majority of our phone calls begin with people asking us "Where are you?" and it isn't too difficult to understand why, considering the amount of travelling we have done: After getting home from a long Christmas/support raising trip in Seattle-Tacoma, we took another weekend in January to speak to Intown PCA church in Atlanta. In February, we were the guests at First Presbyterian's mission's conference in Demopolis, AL and spent about another week cold-calling around lower Alabama at other churches. We were invited to speak at a mission's conference in Richboro, PA in March, and took the opportunity to travel to Virginia, Delaware and Maryland speaking to several churches and donors.

We settled down for a few months in preparation for the baby's arrival, but as soon as Gabriella was born on June 1st, Nathaniel was getting ready to speak at the MTW vision retreat in Atlanta. On July 1st, we boarded a plane for New York City to attend MTW's month long pre-field training, and at the end of that trip in August, we spent some time speaking to two churches in New Jersey and meeting with potential team mates. In September, I (Nathaniel) flew out to San Diego for a good friend and supporter's wedding, and spent a few days after speaking to many pastors and churches in the area. Then we flew to the Northeast again where two churches took us on as their missionaries and when we flew back home we stopped in Nashville and another church took us on as their missionaries! In October, Alicia was in another of our supporter's weddings, and came home to First Presbyterian Church's (Chattanooga) big mission's conference where we were being commissioned as their new missionaries. And that brings us to November, where we just got back from another trip, this time to speak at Christ Church in Katy, TX, visit many other churches in the area and spending a few days at Mission to the World being assessed for a position in team leadership (for news on this and a preview of our latest update click here: www.servinginkas.com)

"You are moving to Peru?!" Many of the people we meet are shocked at our quickly approaching reality. We are looking at moving companies, learning about customs regulations, gathering passports, visas, extra birth and marriage certificates and one-way plane tickets! We pray that we might be able to leave the USA in January, and ask that you would pray to that end as well!

Can you please help us raise our lacking one-time expenses for moving, language school, plane tickets and other one time needs that need to be met before we can buy plane tickets? Our need is still substantial yet reachable with your help! Please also remember us for your year-end giving and consider sending in a check with "Acct. #012762 - Gutierrez" in the memo line to the donations address below.

With your help we can start the new year abroad!

With thankful hearts,

Nathaniel, Alicia, Jeremiah and Gabriella

prayer section

1. Please pray for my mother. She has been through many cancer treatments and is now waiting on the Lord's will.
2. Please pray that our monthly & one time financial needs would be met so we can depart by January.
3. Please pray that we can work out the details of moving, obtaining visas and passports, and other items on our pre-departure list.
4. Praise God with us for all our new partnerships!
5. Pray for more missionaries to Peru!
